VICTIMS OF BRIGANDS

EXPERIENCE OF TWO GERMANS
IN ATLAS MOUNTAINS.Held Prisoners by a Moorish Chief, tain, Their Lives Were Saved
by Payment of Ransom.

Two German engineers, Herr Wagner and Herr Sintes, while prospecting recently in the Atlas Mountains, had a narrow escape from death at the hands of Moorish brigands. Describing the adventure, Herr Wagner states:

"While we were on the way to Tardant, near Mount Elmue, a band of thirty brigands surrounded us, and pointing their rifles, demanded $200. Sintes and I tried to come to an amicable settlement by offering to leave our two mules as guarantee in their hands while we fetched the money from Tardant and reclaimed the animals.

"But the brigands refused and, keeping their rifles pointed at us, drove us along the roughest conceivable paths into the hills till we arrived at a lonely house belonging to Sheikh Ali, captain of the band. Our Moorish servants were then plundered, stripped of their clothes, and turned adrift naked.

"One brigand wanted to cut off my servant's finger to obtain possession of an almost worthless silver ring fixed firmly on it. But the servant rescued the finger by tearing off the ring with his teeth. The brigands then placed us in a room four yards square, and fed us on bread and water for five days. We slept on the earthen floor.

"On the fifth day, the brigands having taken nearly all our clothes, the chief, with four followers, removed us to a deep, damp cellar where it was dark day and night. On the sixth day the brigand chief again appeared with several followers, bearing a jug of water and two long sharpened knives, and informed us he had sent the Kald of Tardant an ultimatum that unless a ransom of $500 was paid before 3 o'clock next morning, both of us would be beheaded with the knives.

"They departed, locking the door, and leaving us to ponder on our approaching fate. Shortly before 3 o'clock we heard a noise outside the door, and the Sheikh of Menisla and Mulal Ammar, a friend of the Kald of Tardant, appeared with the brigand chief. They told us the ransom was paid, and we were liberated hurriedly.

"We left the place with our two mules along paths so rough that we were unable to mount. We were obliged to walk the whole distance. Sintes fainted from exhaustion several times, and we were obliged to carry and drag him the last part of the way to Menisla."

Saved Child From Death.

"After our child had suffered from severe bronchial trouble for a year," wrote G. T. Richardson, of Richardson's Mills, Ala., "we feared it had consumption. It had a bad cough all the time. We tried many remedies without avail, and doctors' medicines seemed as useless. Finally we tried Dr. King's New Discovery, and we are pleased to say that one bottle effected a complete cure, and he is again strong and healthy." For coughs, colds, hoarseness, lagrippe, asthma, croup and sore lungs it's the most infallible remedy that's made. Price 50c and $1. Trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Oberdorfer.

New Idea in Judicial Lore.

The suggestion of a French judge, who presided at a breach of promise suit, has aroused the interest of American men and women. The suggestion is that when young people become engaged an agreement to marry should be drawn up with a clause providing damages if it is broken.

may not paralyze a home so completely as a mother's long illness. But Dr. King's New Life Pills are a splendid remedy for women. "They gave me wonderful benefit in constipation and female trouble," wrote Mrs. M. C. Dunlap, of Leadhill, Tenn. If ailing try them. 25c at Oberdorfer's.
